Hello Dad,

Its Thursday morning, there is a beautiful shimmer of sunshine hitting the snow, which has a way of hiding the cold temperatures. I never got to say good bye, to hug you one last time, to tell a joke or hold your hand. I never got to introduce to you two your two Great Grandson's, Tyreal and Jesiah, they are beautiful angels that would have loved to have met you. I will always and forever cherish our memories of working on old cars, dancing like no one was watching and repeatedly watching Die Hard. I have so many unknowns that I wanted to discuss with you and now will never have the opportunity. You will always hold my heart.

Love always and forever,

Devon

Well Bud, It only took about 12 years before I learned that wasn't your real name. But that was you, you lived your life the way you wanted. Even though not everyone agreed or understood, you did what you felt made you happy. I'm glad that you got to leave the way you chose to as well (at home).

You were loved and will be missed. Until we meet again, my friend rest well You earned it.
